

Portable Commercial Diver's Video Unit

Rechargeable Battery or 220 VAC Power operation, Model DVU-300

Rovsco's Commercial Diver Video Unit Model DVU-300 is based on the latest electronics technology and provides finest subsea video control and processing during subsea work. Video received from the divers camera is displayed on a high resolution 11 inch LCD monitor. The unit can be operated from 220 VAC or a built-in rechargeable battery which when fully charged can allow working in an environment where you have no access to electrical power. The unit comes with a standard 100 meter cable equipped with connectors for underwater video camera and light. The unit is equipped with a light dimmer to adjust to various work conditions. It also provides connections for divers audio communication. Available as an option is a 300 GB Hard Drive which enables recording of dive video. A video typewriter is offered as an option for writing comments or information during subsea work. The operating panel also provides connections for easy access to a portable video/audio recorder.

Available in PAL or NTSC.
